

OVARIAN CANCER

SIGNS & SYMPTOMS

Anyone born with ovaries is at risk for ovarian cancer:

- Ovarian cancer ranks 5th in cancer deaths for anyone born with ovaries, accounting for more deaths than any other gynecologic cancer.
- 1 in 78 is at risk of getting ovarian cancer in their lifetime.
- Currently, there is no effective screening or early-detection test for ovarian cancer.
- Knowing your risk and the signs and symptoms can help you make informed healthcare decisions.

BLOATING

PELVIC OR ABDOMINAL PAIN

TROUBLE EATING OR FEELING FULL QUICKLY

URINARY FREQUENCY

PAIN
DURING SEX

BACK PAIN

FATIGUE

MENSTRUAL CHANGES

UPSET STOMACH, HEARTBURN, OR CONSTIPATION

If symptoms continue for two weeks, contact a doctor immediately.
If cancer is suspected, a gynecologic oncologist should be consulted.

